RUSSIAN CLAIMS TO SEEK VERDICT AFTER HOLIDAYS

Further Exposures Expected in State's Charges of Soviet Action.

SOME FAVOR RELATIONS

Resolution of Senator Borah for Soviet Recognition to Get Inquiry.
By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—With a sweeping study of the Russian question by the senate foreign relations committee in prospect after the holidays, further disclosures are expected shortly in support of the state department's charges of revolutionary soviet propaganda in the United States.

The contention in some quarters favoring recognition of the Russian government by the United States that the propaganda for a revolution in America emanates from the communist internationale and not through the soviet government is regarded as merely a quibble by the state department which holds that it is impossible to draw a line of distinction between the two.

A resolution by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, urging the president to extend recognition to the soviet government will provide the basis for the senate inquiry. Senator Borah and Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, charged yesterday that there was no proof of the alleged activities on the part of the Russian authorities, but Secretary Hughes is said to have collected evidence with the aid of the department of justice which he regards as establishing definitely the responsibility of the Moscow government for the movement to undermine the American government.

FLAGS OF OKLAHOMA VETERANS AT HOME

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Dec. 21.—Battle flags carried by Oklahoma troops in the United States and overseas during the World War have been consigned to their shrine in the memorial hall of the American Legion in the state capital.

In the years to come thousands will file by the glass case in the hall and view with mingled feeling of pride and sorrow the 18 colors and standards that waved over Oklahoma's sons as they trained "over here" for service in France, or as they marched toward the battle line "over there."

The eighth legislature appropriated $1500 for a suitable case for the flags, and it was first intended to build it in the main rotunda of the capitol on the fourth floor. Later it was found the appropriation was insufficient and the case was ordered built in the Legion memorial hall in the east wing of the state house. It has just been completed and the flags placed there this week.

Five of the regimental standards bear battle clasps, mute testimonials of the baptism of fire the men who served in those organizations underwent. They are the 357th and 358th infantry regiments of the 90th division with four battle clasps each, and the 11th Engineers, the 54th artillery and the 343rd artillery, with one each. The other regimental standards in the case are the 79th, the 80th and 142nd regiments of infantry. The standard and colors of the Oklahoma department of the American Legion are also kept in the case.

C. B. Dollarhide, custodian of the hall, watches over the flags.

St. Louis Bank Forced to Close; Cashier Confesses

(By the Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Dec. 21.—The Chippewa bank on the southern part of the city closed today and a report reaching the prosecutor's office alleged a shortage which it was said may reach $500,000. Gottlieb Eymann, president issued a statement that the cashier Joseph S. Carr confessed that he was short in his accounts and returned $34,000, but that the exact shortage had not been ascertained.

The capital of the bank is given as $200,000 and the surplus $100,000.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—The appellate division of the supreme court today upheld a lower court conviction of Harry M. Winitsky on charges of criminal anarchy and also decreed that he serve the ten-year sentence imposed by the court.

Grandma's Jam Spared From Postoffice Crew

Grandma's jam or auntie's cranberries or any of those perishable articles that help make Christmas merry for the recipient and messy for the postoffice worker are not to be found in the rubbish heap at the postoffice this year, according to the local peddlers of mail.

The reason for the absence of the annual crop of battered packages this season lies in the fact that shippers have taken advantage of the universal appeal of the postoffice to carefully wrap all articles for Christmas shipment.

Postmaster Manville breathed free for a moment to state that Ada patrons were also responding to the request to carefully wrap and pack all articles for shipment to points over the country.

Glass containers or jellies and fruit jars with dainty foods and drinks have not fallen into the hands of the postoffice officials because of insecure wrapping.

SECOND SAULSTAD DOESN'T RECALL "FAKING" DEATH

Walter R. Loupe.

Walter R. Loupe, who will face embezzlement charges in Denver, Colo., in connection with a shortage found in his church accounts, claims that he is the victim of amnesia and doesn't remember incidents the police of Chicago and other cities have asked him to explain. Loupe, formerly a pastor, left a wife and six children, an insurance policy for $42,000 and a wrecked automobile which would indicate his death when he disappeared in Denver in October.

City Schools Show Final Rush Before Christmas Holidays

City schools were today in the final rush before the closing of the doors of the educational institutions of the city for the Christmas holidays.

The final details of the school program for the first part of the year were being closed to await the opening of school after the holidays.

Christmas exercises in keeping with Yuletide programs were being held in the schools of the city and contributions for the less fortunate students of city schools complete. Each school of the city answers the Christmas needs of the students in that school. The surplus Christmas supplies from contributions in the schools of the city will be placed in the hands of the Red Cross and the United Charities to be distributed as they see fit.

Night Schools Now Bringing Sponsors From Rural Parts

Much interest is being taken in the night opportunity schools in the rural districts of the county as well as Ada, County Superintendent A. Flayd stated today.

Floyd stated that three schools had already been established in the county and all communities had voiced interest in the campaign against illiteracy.

Letters have been received from several schools of the county seeking information on steps for the founding of night schools and information has been dispatched to many districts of the county, Floyd stated.

HUNDREDS AWAIT VERDICT FOR FOX

Accused Man is Carefully Guarded While Awaiting Decree of Jurors

(By the Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Dec. 21.—Hundreds of persons crowded the court room and corridors of the court building today awaiting a verdict in the case of Philip E. Fox, former Ku Klux Klan editor charged with the murder of W. S. Coburn, a Klan attorney. The case went to the jury last night but it is understood that deliberations were not started until today.

Fox was brought from the jail under heavy guard and was closed in a room on an upper floor of the court building. He will not be brought into the court room until a verdict is reached, it was stated.

When court re-convened at 9 o'clock all exhibits placed in the case by both sides were carried to the jury room. These included the pistol used by the defendant when he shot Coburn, the clothing worn by the attorney at the time he was shot showing an alleged bullet hole in the back of the coat and a long bladed knife taken from Fox when he was arrested.

When the jury arrived at the court house they were immediately locked in a room just back of the chamber in which the trial began more than a week ago.

State Represented in Good Roads Meet
of Many Delegates

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 21.—Delegates from virtually every part of the state were in attendance at the good roads convention here today. R. A. Singletary, manager of the good roads division of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, who called the meeting outlined the purpose of the gathering and opened the discussion of the proposed $75,000,000 bond issue for the construction of highways.

Singletary said he did not have the meeting in mind when he called the meeting, but that it was held as it had been made public since the call went out it would be thoroughly considered.

The conference is expected to recommend road legislation to Gov. M. E. Trapp.

The Mississippi is said to remove from the general surface of its basin one foot in 6,000 years.

There are 750,000 operatives in this country engaged in the manufacture of automobiles.

Would Assist Her Former Husband Marry Another

Mrs. Amanda Krebs bears none of the malice common in the relations of divorced and divorcee, county officers are ready to affirm.

None of the stings of matrimonial failure tell her lot nor interfered with her willingness to take part in the attempt of her former husband, Jim Smith, to marry a 14-year-old girl.

Amanda Krebs is also alleged by county officers to be also free-hearted with her check book, resulting in the debris of worthless paper in the town of Allen, her former husband is also alleged to be talented in passing moneyless checks to merchants of the same place.

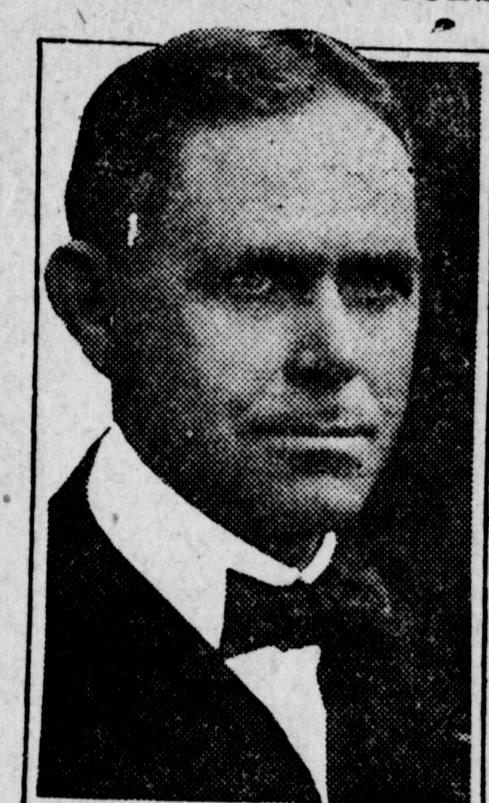

Charges are being filed here against Amanda Krebs for her spencerian activities, while Smith is being held at Holdenville, where he took out marriage license for Maud Oden, 14-year-old girl of Allen, upon the assertion that she had passed her nineteenth birthday. Smith will also face a charge of issuing worthless checks at Allen. Maud Oden was taken to her home at Allen today.

According to local officers, Smith, Amanda Krebs and Maud Oden were apprehended at Holdenville by a special officer just a few minutes before the marriage vows were to be said over Smith and Maud Oden with his former wife, Amanda Krebs as a witness.

While charges are still pending, officers believe there is a connected chain of sensations surrounding the operations of Smith and his former wife.

TEACHERS MUST CHOOSE BETWEEN "WEED" AND JOBS

John D. Loper.

Lips that touch cigarettes shall never again call the role in the school rooms of Phoenix, Ariz., while John D. Loper is superintendent. And that's that, Loper says so. A single puff, he says, will be sufficient cause for dismissal. His statement that "no woman who smokes can be a good teacher" has raised a tempest in Phoenix.

Poultry Show Gets Attention Despite Inclement Weather

The poultry show continues in progress and in spite of the disagreeable weather, many visitors have been around to see the birds.

The quality of the exhibits is said to be exceptionally high and the exhibitors used good judgment in preparing their birds as only four being found to be disqualified.

The judging was completed Thursday afternoon and the ribbons placed on the coops of the winners. George Winans, one of the best breeders in the state, was accompanied by a civilian representative of Puebla. The military apparently remains stationary with no troop movements of importance.

President Cárdenas is reported to have ordered suspension of recruiting, regarding his present forces as sufficient to handle the situation.

Road Samaritans Turn Robbers and Take Car and Cash

(By the Associated Press)

MCALISTER, Dec. 21.—J. O. Connor giving his address as Dallas, Texas, en route to Missouri by automobile was robbed by four armed tourists who found him with his car mired down in a mud hole. He was relieved of his cash and his car was pulled out of the mud then driven off by the party who attacked him. He was seven miles from town and walked in last night, reporting his loss to the police. No trace of the car or the bandits has been found.

MAN AND WIFE HELD ON COUNTERFEITING CHARGE

(By the Associated Press)

SUPERIOR, Wis., Dec. 21.—Edward J. Sallstad and his companion Dorothy Anderson will plead guilty to charges of arson either today or tomorrow when they are brought before Judge Archibald in the superior court. Sallstad made this announcement after being arraigned in municipal court yesterday.

The two prisoners under arraignment waived examination and their bail was set at $2,500. They were remanded to the county jail in default of bond. Throughout the arraignment the "sunshine girl" clung to Sallstad and they left the court arm in arm.

CANADA'S PULP OUTPUT SHOWS STEADY GROWTH

(By the Associated Press)
OTTAWA, Ont. Dec. 7.—Newsprint production in Canada amounted to 944,820 tons in the nine months ended Oct. 1, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This was an increase of 145,477 tons or 18 percent compared with the same period last year.

The Dominion, the report points out, is rapidly reducing the lead of the United States in newsprint production. The output of the United States was 184,979 tons more than Canada in the first nine months of 1923, as against 270,246 tons greater output for the same period of 1922. In September Canada produced 102,486 tons while the United States mills produced 110,209 tons.

At the present rate of increase in another year, it is believed, Canada will be ahead of the United States in newsprint output. The supply of pulp wood is diminishing in the eastern states, while Canada possesses almost unlimited resources of pulp wood and water-power to exploit it.

Exports of newsprint in the first nine months of 1923, the report sets forth, amounted to 839,222 tons valued at $63,277,956, or practically 90 percent of the total production. The United States was the chief buyer, taking 821,788 tons or 97 percent of the total export. The remaining 17,434 tons were shipped mainly to New Zealand, Australia and South Africa.

AMERICAN WILL PRESENT THE YEAR'S "THRILLER," 24th

"The Eleventh Hour," the new Fox production to be shown at the American theatre Dec. 24, is probably one of the most colorful and fantastic films ever shown upon a screen. Thrills and action cover every square inch, all being carefully woven into an exciting story, that keeps two stars, Charles Jones and Shirley Mason, dashing from one nerve-tingling incident to another.

The story contains such highly interesting characters as a mysterious foreign prince, a weird old chemist and the wildest Irishman in the world. A submarine, a torpedo boat, a motor boat and an airplane—also figure in various exciting rescues and captures of a little heiress to a vast estate.

Pittsburg County
Miners to Receive
Benefits of Labor

(By the Associated Press)

MCALISTER, Dec. 19.—It's go-ing to be a merry Christmas in Pittsburg county's mine fields. More than $300,000 will be dis-tributed to the 2,500 coal miners in wages during December.

There have been years—many of them—when all or nearly all of the Pittsburg miners were shut down during December and Christmas was anything but a merry season for the miners and their families. It was then on the little stockings were empty on Christmas mornings; there was scarcely enough to feed the miner and his family and not infrequently they were hungry at Yuletide.

But this year, although the miners have not been working to capacity the 2,500 miners probably will put in from 16 to 20 days during December, receiving an average of $7.50 a day.

HOME OWNERSHIP CURES RADICALISM.

The late Dr. Knapp said: "A prosperous, intelligent and contented rural population is essential to our National prosperity."

Nothing makes for better citizenship than owning your own home. This is true in cities as well as in rural districts. The laboring man, the clerk or office manager who owns a modest cottage, even though it be located on a small lot and surrounded by more imposing buildings, takes a pride in his city and is jealous of its reputation. He feels that he is a citizen with responsibilities.

In the country, the farmers who own and operate farms are the responsible citizens. No tenant, no matter how well educated, can possibly take the interest in the welfare of the community that he who pays the taxes does. He is here today and gone tomorrow. Why should he be interested in good roads, in good schools or community progress? There is no reason why he should unless he proves to be one of those rare tenants who finds it to his advantage to stay on the same farm or in the same community for a period of years.

Home owning is not always profitable in a material way. Oftentimes renters get more dollars for a season's work than does the man who tills his own farm, but the man who owns his home and the acres which he tills receives as compensation many things that a renter has never had the opportunity to enjoy. There is the pleasure of anticipation, the joy of planning for the future in building up the productivity of the soil, and contentment in the knowledge that no man can tell him what to plant and when. He is an independent citizen, and in the majority of cases, finds it more profitable to be his own landlord than in working for others. Only those who have undertaken to buy and pay for more land than they should, who are undercapitalized, find home owning a burden. Go the length and breadth of the land, and the man who owns a small farm and has it paid for, is the most contented citizen of the community in which he lives. —Farm and Ranch.

The Sailstad-Anderson case in Wisconsin is just another of the hundreds of violations of the civil and moral law for which the transgressors must pay. For the love of the Anderson girl Sailstad gave up his high standing as a business man, deserted his family and seeking to obliterate his own existence, so far as the world knew, robbed a grave of its occupant, burned a cottage over it and fled with the girl who shared his guilt. With a view of easing his conscience over deserting his family he insured his life heavily so that his wife and children might not be brought to want. He and the Anderson girl wandered for nearly three years over the United States, always haunted with the memory of what they had done and by a fear of being found by the long arm of the law. This finally happened although it was generally believed that Sailstad was dead. The whole sordid affair has ended in the prison and when the pair are at length set free life will have very little to offer them. To beat back will not be an easy matter for either, for their transgression was too great to be passed over lightly. The person who seeks to trample rough shod on the moral and civil laws seldom gets away with it. He is fighting against odds that are too heavy for the ordinary human being to overcome.

The New York stock broker who is retiring with a couple of million to indulge in his hobby, running a newspaper, will likely be a wiser and perhaps poorer man. He admits that he is not a newspaper man but has his ideas of how a paper should be run. A good many others are just like him and the newspapers come in for a lot of criticism from people of this kind. When the New Yorker has tried his hand at the game for a year or two his views are likely to undergo a decided change. It is human nature for those gathered around by big open fire place to think they know more about how the fire should be stirred with the poker than the fellow who is wielding the poker at the time.

The Tulsa World, the only Republican daily of any consequence in Oklahoma, announces its withdrawal from Republican political affairs for the present. The World is considerably peeved over the action of the administration in the matter of appointing an additional federal judge for Oklahoma and is especially displeased with the action of Attorney General Daugherty and certain leaders of the party in this state, hence takes this means of voicing protest. The Republican leaders of the state are having a merry time over the question of who is to be the official pie dispenser, but this question will be settled for them a year hence when the Democrats return to power.

Lenine and his bunch in undertaking to replace the stars and stripes over the White House with the red flag of bolshevism have taken on quite a contract. They may think they are big men but they will find a good many bigger ones in the United States if they start anything. However, perhaps they have been reading some of the radical speeches made by men claiming to be leaders of political thought in America and have thus been led to believe that this country is ready to throw its constitution and laws into the discard for bolshevist doctrines.

HARDEN RAPS GERMAN RULERS

(Chicago Express)

Maximilian Harden, the brilliant German journalist, has no more admiration for the democratic rulers of his country than he had for His Imperial Highness, Wilhelm Hohenzollern. Always a bitter critic of men and measures, in a new book, which was recently published in Berlin, Harden raps the post-war statesmen of Germany no less mercilessly than he did the Kaiser. A good sample of his satire is found in his characterization of the last of the Hohenzollerns as the "Kodak-Kaiser, the Film-Emperor, who was more timid than Nero but worshipped one of the miracles of the world, who succeeded in the space of thirty years in losing all that the Hohenzollerns had gained since Frederick the Great and in reducing to ashes the proud structure of the German empire."

The main charge which Harden lodges against the various democratic administrations in Germany is incompetency, and he declares that each has been worse than its predecessor. To quote the language of a New York times reviewer, he asserts that the ruling powers of his country have been guilty of incompetency floundering and blundering scarcely paralleled in history. "Opera bouffe, pitiful bungling coupled with disgraceful mendacity," is the way Harden puts it. The policies of currency inflation and passive resistance are condemned as utterly foolish and destructive.

Prominent among the counts which Harden files against German statesmen is what he calls the "hush-hush" policy, whereby the German people have been deceived since the war just as they were while the gigantic struggle was going on. "We are lied to today as in wartime," he says. And in order that the people may be kept blinded to the deception, they are regaled with constant abuse of France. As a matter of fact, Harden points out, "what France is doing today does not materially differ from what Germany did after the war of 1870. Germany then occupied French soil until the last centime of the indemnity had been paid, and 5,000,000,000 francs were more than three times as much as Germany's entire war costs. But what a difference between the policy of fulfillment of the French of that time and the policy of subterfuge adopted by the Germany of today!"

As a road out of the present state of confusion on the continent, Harden suggests "economic collaboration between France, Germany and Belgium." The great industrial region of Germany, where lie rich store of coal and ore, he would have "treated rationally as the economic unit which it was destined to be, without regard to political frontiers, drawn by dynastic jealousy or diplomatic intrigue," and thus help both Germany and France to recover. The remedy proposed may be highly chimerical, but at any rate Harden must be given credit for giving a suggestion that looks to constructive effort.

NIGHT SCHOOLS STATE PROGRESS

Thousands Attend Industrial Schools to Become Better Adapt in Trade.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 20.—More than 2,000 persons are enrolled in the night schools conducted by the trades and industries division of the Oklahoma state vocational board.

Oklahoma City leads in the number of persons who are seeking to become better acquainted with the work in which they are engaged, as approximately 2,000 are members of the trades and industries classes here, according to A. H. Abbott, head of that division. In Tulsa there are 1,700 in the night classes. In several places more than 200 are enrolled, Mr. Abbott said.

Only those who have not had the advantage of college training are eligible to take work in the trades and industries classes, the director said.

"The work is for the man and woman, who not having had the opportunity to acquire a technical knowledge, are willing to give a few nights a week to class work in their particular field," Mr. Abbott declared.

The classes are organized by the board and half of the instructor's fees are paid by the state organization, he said. Persons thoroughly competent, many of them executives in their work, are secured to teach the classes.

"A mining engineer instructs one of the classes in mine gases and elementary mining engineering problems at Henryetta," Mr. Abbott said. "In this way the miners, members of the class, are enabled to put into practice the things they have learned from the engineer the night before."

The night schools are becoming increasingly popular in the mining communities of the state, he declared.

Any ten or more persons in a trade or industry may be organized into a class and provided with an instructor, according to the rules governing the vocational board.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, B. P. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Wagoner County in Fight to Decrease Illiteracy Subjects

WAGONER, Okla., Dec. 19.—Wagoner county has launched a drive against illiteracy which has already enrolled more than 300 of the county's 1,100 illiterates in opportunity schools.

Under the direction of John C. Weaver, county superintendent of schools, 25 "opportunity schools" have been opened in the county and others are to be opened immediately. Fifteen of these are for whites and 10 for negroes.

Womans' clubs, the American Legion, civic organizations and the teachers of the county are enthusiastically behind the war on illiteracy. Superintendent Weaver said. He declared that Wagoner county will be free of illiterates by the end of 1924. The 1920 census gave Wagoner county 1,136 illiterates, a reduction of 40 in ten years.

The "opportunity" or "moonlight" schools are open only to those who cannot read or write. They are held in rural or city schools, churches and private residences and the teachers are volunteers from the county's educators' ranks or private citizens.

NEW BOARD MEMBERS APPOINTED IN COUNTY

Change in affairs in many rural schools of the county has led to the appointment of several new members of the board of trustees in many parts of the county.

According to A. Floyd, county superintendent, G. W. Golightly has been appointed as a member of the board in the Pleasant Hill district and E. Walker has taken the same post in the Worstell district. Members will be appointed for the management of school affairs in Steedman and Lovelady districts, Floyd said.

The night schools are becoming increasingly popular in the mining communities of the state, he declared.

To Replace Japanese Museum
(By the Associated Press)
TOKIO.—Baron Okura has announced that he intends to endeavor to replace the great museum which he presented to the nation some years ago, and which was destroyed in the fire following the earthquake.

The collection was one of the chief attractions to foreign visitors in Tokio and was of enormous value. Many of the reliefs cannot now be duplicated. A few were saved having been removed to a fireproof warehouse as the fire approached. The collection cost Baron Okura about $2,500,000.

Traffic Invention May be Placed for Work in Tulsa Soon

(By the Associated Press)

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 21.—Tulsa has been offered a system of traffic signal towers, all operated from a central point, by a local patrolman, who invented the device.

J. A. Brown, the inventor, has presented a model of the system to the city commissioners, who have its installation under consideration.

The chain of towers are operated electrically. From a central station, to be situated in the downtown district, where an officer might observe the traffic jams most easily, the chain will be switched from a "go" and "stop" signal simultaneously.

In the event of necessity to clear streets for passage of fire apparatus and ambulances, gongs on the towers would be rung, thus indicating that all traffic must stop.

First Baptist Christmas Tree

The Sunday school of the First Baptist Church will have their annual Christmas tree at the church Saturday evening at 7:30. A splendid program has been arranged and will be given at that time. There will be a real Santa Claus and parents are urged to come and bring the little folks. Gifts will be distributed to the children.

It will be in the form of a white Christmas and all members of the church as well as others so disposed, are urged to send some article of food or clothing or some toy that could be distributed among those who find themselves in unfortunate circumstances. Arrangements will be made to deliver the articles before Christmas Day.

Muskegee National Guard to be Made up from Residents

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Dec. 21.—Battery D, 189th Field Artillery of the Oklahoma national guard, is being made strictly a Muskogee unit.

Recruits now are being sought in Muskogee to replace them, headquarters of the battery here announced.

A federal inspector who looked over the guard unit recently declared in a letter to the officer in command:

"Your organization is one to be proud of. Your men know their business. Your organization is well disciplined and instruction is being carried on in a highly satisfactory manner."

TAHLEQUAH TEACHERS OUT FOR HONORS IN CAGE YEAR

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON.—Sir Herbert Hamblin, president of the Bankers Institute, blames capital and labor for restricted industrial output in England more than he does the economic crisis in Europe.

"I say without hesitation," Sir Herbert declared in a recent address, "that although we are losing much trade because of the European situation, a situation largely outside our control, we are losing more as a result of our high production costs, a situation within our control."

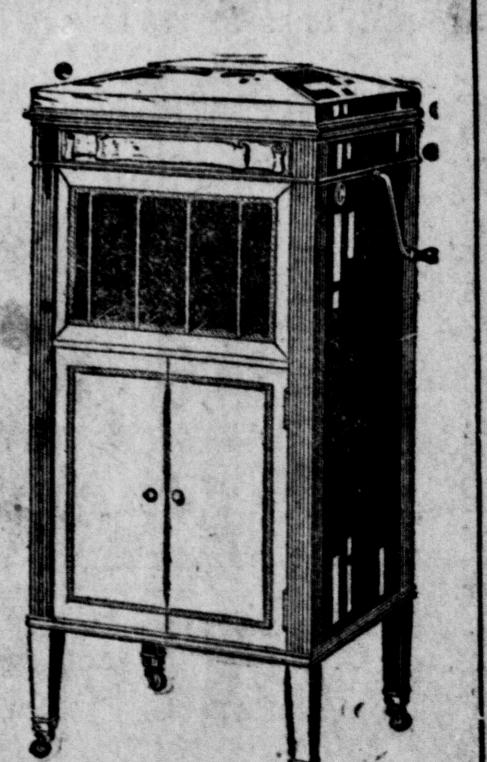

"I contend that if all restriction on output were removed by labor, and if all our trading interests aimed at making a large total profit on each individual item of a big output, rather than by making a large profit on a small output, we should increase our overseas trade, develop our home markets and provide a large number of our unemployed with remunerative work."

Covered Wagon Enroute to Ada. On next Monday, for one day only at the McSwain theatre, "The Covered Wagon," a Paramount production that typically American play of the winning of the West, begins its local engagement. The spirit that animated the pioneers is its theme. They defied all hazards and—another great step in America's progress—conquered the unknown—the savages, wilds, hostile animals and nature, desert thirst, heat, cold and hunger along the California and Oregon trails in 1848-49 into the story of "The Covered Wagon." Replete with thrilling adventure of great sweetness and a rough but sympathetic humor that touches both the risibilities and the heart strings.

Will Jackson, Jim Bridger and Joe Dunston are true pictures of the frontiersmen that helped make the greater America, and their portrayals by Messrs. Torrence, Marshall and Oliver, delight greatly all audiences. The gallant Major Banning, played by J. W. Kerrigan and the beautiful Molly Wingate acted by Lois Wilson, embody the romance.

In the supporting cast are three thousand people representing white caravans of "prairie schooner" families; a thousand Indian braves and squaws vividly reproducing the savagery of their ancestors; and, among the animal contingent, 600 oxen, 1000 horses and 500 mules. The vastness of the canvas requires great numbers to give it epic meaning.

Even the attendance figures of "Way Down East" and "The Birth of a Nation" have been exceeded by this attraction, which is playing to the largest business in the history of special productions. A wonder-
